- 250 cow Wintering Barn
- Daily deep ripping/aeration
- Wintering and calving use through winter and spring
- Depleted composted bedding adds a natural organic fertiliser to the farm system

SmartShelters have a new Wintering barn in West Otago built for 250 cows. This barn is a 'composting barn' where the sawdust bedding is deep ripped daily and mixed, this starts the aerobic fermentation process breaking down effluent and evaporating moisture. This style of soft floor bedding is the future of dairy wintering, it keeps capital cost down and the bedding provides premium organic matter for high quality fert. This offset's the cost of new bedding every 2-3 seasons. Cow comfort and condition is unrivalled.
