Visit Us for an Exciting On Farm Tech Showcase!

AIMER, Bovonic, and Herd-i have teamed up to host a special event highlighting the latest technology available to New Zealand dairy farmers.

Throughout the day, you'll hear directly from each company as they share their journey and demonstrate their products in action. Local farmers already using these tools will also share their real-world experiences, showing how Agtech is reshaping farm management and productivity.

Bring your team, bring your neighbour, and come see how cutting-edge technology can help drive the future of your farming system.
